

"How often do you write unit tests for your R code? These tests can be standalone tests or can be part of a testing framework such as those in R packages testthat and RUnit?" (R users only)

